A peninsular and an island make up this wonderful country of Malaysia. Since the country is made up of two entirely different landforms, the things to do and see in the peninsula are a huge contrast to the ones in the island.

With the help of Malaysia travel agents you can enjoy both the worlds of this wonderful southeastern Asian country.

Malaysia is defined as “truly Asia” and the definition cannot be anymore better than it. One may wonder as to why this small phrase is applied to this country and the answer would be because the country is a cultural mix of the different ethnicities in Asia. When one books Tours to Malaysia and reaches the country he/she is surprised to see such a vast Asian cultural mix that lives in complete harmony with each other.

The diversity of the country is derived from all parts of Asia such as China, India, Mauritius, Philippines and Malaysia itself. There are small settlements all over the country which draws its origins from different parts of Asia and have rooted themselves in this wonderful land.

As the land is made up of many cultural ethnicities each place has its own charm and magnificence.

For example Penang is a place that is widely populated by the Chinese. The architecture, food, and style of living clearly show that the Chinese culture has flourished here. The age old temples and monasteries are of the Chinese origin.

Similarly George Town is a place that is reminiscent of the Dutch colonial rule. When one walks through the streets of George Town he/she can clearly see the impact of the colonial rule in the architecture of the town buildings.

Like wise Little India is a small settlement in Kuala Lumpur that exhibits the flamboyant colours, cuisines and people from India.

There is also a bit of Middle Eastern flavor that is exhibited in Malaysia. There is a place known as Arab Street which is filled with Middle Eastern cuisines and shops in the capital city of Kuala Lumpur.

As such you can see that this country is indeed a mixture of culture from different parts of Asia and some other countries and hence called “Malaysia Truly Asia”

Apart from the cultural mix there are other things to explore here. Places such as Cameron highlands, Taman Negara, Pulau Tioman are widely known for the natural beauty they possess.

The urban centers that have gained fame along with its high rising structures are the Petronas twin towers, Genting highlands, fish spas, aquariums etc. The Petronas Twin towers were formerly the world’s tallest building with an astounding 88 floors. The Genting highland is an amusement park filled with excitement and fun. The amusement park is also the country’s biggest amusement park and contains roller coasters, water rides, it even has the Ripley’s Believe it or Not museum.

When a visit to Malaysia is planned one must not forget to visit the island of Langkawi. This island is an archipelago of 99 islands and one of the most beautiful places on earth. The beaches and the fun filled marine activities found here are simply amazing. The island is also known for its picturesque setting which is a delight to a photographer's eye.

With such a wide diversity of culture, landforms and activities this country is one of the most sought after destinations in the world. If you would like to see the world's largest continent at one place then a Malaysia Tour is the best way to do so. Visit this wonderful peninsular cum island country and taste the flavours of entire Asia in this cultural bowl called Malaysia.
