Article published on January 19th 2012 | Travel

Johannesburg is situated in the smallest province called Gauteng of South Africa. It is one of the richest cities in the world and consists of a large economy and metropolitan area. But it lagged behind in the tourism sector for many years. Earlier other cities of South Africa such as Cape Town were more famous tourist destinations. But lately this city along with Pretoria has gained prominence in the tourism market with many tourist destinations coming up in the Gauteng province. The Gauteng province thus apart from being a financial hub is also a sight seeing destination in the present times and attracts many tourists using the services of Flights to Johannesburg.The Roodeplaat situated near Pretoria is a very famous tourist attraction which is the combination of a wildlife reserve and a dam. The reserve consisting birds belonging to over 250 species is a paradise for birdwatchers. Its wildlife also consists of animal species such as zebra, warthog, wildebeest and impala. The Roodeplaat dam is 28 metre in height and 143 metre in width. This destination is ideal for adventure lovers as the tourists flying through cheap flights to Johannesburg can engage oneself in activities like fishing, camping and hiking etc.For nature lovers Suikerbosrand Nature Reserve is the ideal tourist destination. Spread across an area of 115 square kilometers it is situated close to the Johannesburg International Airport. The tourists can explore the hidden treasures of the natural reserve using mountain bike along the trails. One can look forward to seeing rare animal species such as porcupine, aardvark, springbok, zebra and hyena. The reserve also consists of a museum and visitor's center which are visited by many travelers of Johannesburg flights.The National Zoological Gardens of South Africa also known as the National Zoo of South Africa is also a must visit tourist destination. Situated in the city of Pretoria it is a very old zoo established in the year 1899. It has taken up the responsibility to save many endangered species such as the white rhino and Arabian oryx by establishing many conservation centers. The tourist attractions of the zoo include an aquarium, Reptile Park, primate, carnivore sections etc. The park is open for the visitors of direct flights to Johannesburg through out the year.

The Cradle of Humankind is a very unique tourist destination. Spread across an area of 474 square kilometers the site consists of many limestone caves and is credited of being a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The most sought after tourist attraction of this place is the 60 meter deep Wonder Cave which is 1.5 million years old. It is an important destination for archeologists as fossil remains have been found here. The Johannesburg travel tips provide ample information on the above mentioned tourist destinations around Johannesburg.
