Article published on December 17th 2011 | Travel

Hyderabad is the capital of Andhra Pradesh in Southern India, located on the banks of the Musi River as well as on the Deccan Plateau. Hyderabad and also Secunderabad are "twin cities" near Hussain Sagar Lake but both cities have grown so much that currently they have come to be one large metropolis. The city and region of Hyderabad will be coterminous. Hyderabad district is entirely contained within the Ranga Reddy district of Andhra Pradesh. Numerous of the suburbs of Hyderabad were recently merged into the city, now called Greater Hyderabad. A city rich with historical past and custom, Hyderabad currently competes having Bangalore, Nagour for the crown of India's IT capital; Microsoft and Google have their India head office here.

Nagpur is a metropolis in Maharashtra State, India well known for its Nagpur oranges. It is the head office of the Vidarbha division. It is also the "2nd capital" of Maharashtra state, which signifies that some management activities are taken out|from here, and one of three sessions of the Legislative Assembly in a year happens here.
