Kruger National Park for that ultimate safari experience by Stan Scotto

Article published on March 22nd 2012 | Travel

First there are safaris and then there is Kruger National Park which is known for the ultimate safari experience. If you want to enjoy perfection in a safari, it surely must be a Kruger Park Tour. There are several reasons for this. Firstly, these safaris and tours have been designed keeping everyone in mind. There is a choice in the kind of tour that you want. You have your say in the type of accommodation that you wish to enjoy. The budget is left entirely to you. There are backpackers that extremely enjoy these safaris and hikers. You will find several couples taking the safari and there are students and campers as well as South Africa sport groups and families besides of course the single traveler. People can stroll in and join the safari if thatâ€™s what they wish to do.

The safari in Kruger Park has been designed very thoughtfully. A typical Leopard Crawl Tour of the Kruger/Blyde Canyon consists of two days and one night. The tour will begin from Nelspruit at five in the morning with the awakening of the birds and you will reach Kruger just in time to attend your scheduled meet with most if not all of the different species of mammals including the big five. The Elephant Trumpets Tour of Kruger/Blyde also consists of three days and two nights Kruger/Blyde and two days in Kruger. This tour too will begin at five in the morning and you will lunch at one of the best picnic sites in Kruger after which you will move on to Lower Sabie, the top camp in Kruger for some spotting. The Lion King Tour on the other hand is meant for the more discerning among travellers and is a three days and two nights safari that includes a private reserve lodge.

When you travel to Kruger National Park for the safari experience you can stay in dormitories or double rooms, en-suite rooms or a self catering unit that sleeps four. You can take a self catering house or single rooms. There is also the Crazy Kangaroos type of accommodation if you prefer. Whether it is a sundowner on the deck that overlooks the reserve or a splash in the pool, exploring the local sights or enjoying a home cooked meal, one thing is for sure you will always come back.
