Lufthansa and Sri Lankan Airlines- Explore the two!

by Rock Rodney

Article published on January 10th 2012 | Travel

To fly has always been a dream of human being and he made that possible without the need for wings by mechanisms like Aircrafts, Jet Planes and Helicopters. These days we use them to travel as well as to transport our cargo with it from one destination to the other. Here we will get to know of two great air service providers of the time one is Lufthansa and the other one is Sri Lankan Airlines. One can get the real time experience in both by taking Sri Lankan Airlines tickets or get Lufthansa booking done either by the counter or online as per the suitability.

Lufthansa is one of the largest airlines in Europe and Germany's proud flag carrier. Frankfurt Airport serves as its base along with Munich Airport as its second hub. Corporate headquarters of Lufthansa is at Cologne. It proudly carries its name and prove worthy of it as it is derived from two words 'luft' (meaning 'air') and 'hansa' (from the Hanseatic League, a powerful medieval trading group). Lufthansa booking can embark you on a journey that my come as a surprise to those who are not flying frequently. On the other hand are Sri Lankan Airline tickets that primarily focus on European and Asian countries.

Being fifth largest airline of the world, Lufthansa has great responsibility to carry its travelers and cargo safely that is never an issue of doubt. Lufthansa is also a founding member of Star Alliance, world's largest airlines alliance focused on serving more and more passengers with standardized services. Star Alliance was formed in 1997 together with Thai Airways, United Airlines, Air Canada and Scandinavian Airlines System. Lufthansa booking is not meant to disappointing anyone in expectations. If we talk about Sri Lankan Airlines at this point, it is not a part of any alliance but still it is highly oriented to provide best of air services. This is maintained by having a fully owned Catering Subsidiary that also gives its services to other airlines. You get a Sri Lankan Airline ticket and enjoy delectable recipes yourself.

Lufthansa connects 18 domestic destinations and over 183 international destinations across 78 countries. With more than 500 flights under its wing, the Lufthansa Group is the third largest airline fleet in the world while Sri Lankan Airline might be smaller than the former but no way smaller in services and facilities and it is still growing. Which one tickles your fantasies? Would you get Lufthansa booking or buy Sri Lankan Airline Tickets? Guess it also depends on destinations they cover apart from services.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/lufthansa-and-sri-lankan-airlines-explore-the-two.htm - Article Side

Rock Rodney - About Author:
Rock Rodney is an expert author for flight articles who provides information about international flights including a Lufthansa Booking. Get all exclusive information about a Sri Lankan Airlines Tickets and a International Flights Booking.

Article Keywords:
Lufthansa Booking, Sri Lankan Airlines Tickets

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!