Article published on May 23rd 2012 | Travel

Luton airport which was started on the 16th of July 1938 is now considered as the fourth largest airport of London after the Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted airports. The airport is located at a travel distance of 2.8 kilometers from the east of town centre in Luton Borough in Bedfordshire County. The airport which was previously known as Luton International Airport is under the ownership of Luton Borough Council. It is managed by the London Luton Airport Operations Limited privately. A total of more than 10 million passengers passed through the London Luton Airport as per figures of 2010 however the amount surprisingly reduced to 9.5 million in the year 2011. The Luton is technologically enhanced with a runway that uses the latest ILS (Instrument Landing System). This special system which is navigated with satellite makes it possible for the aircrafts to land and take off even during the most unfavorable weather conditions and poor visibility. Transport from Luton airport to all parts of the country can be found easily.

As far as the facilities are concerned, the airport is right according to the international standards. For the passengers, the airport is equipped with amenities suitable for all kinds of travelers including businessmen, families, singles and disabled travelers. The terminal building has an access to a road that connects it to a bus station, drop off area, taxi rank, Luton airport transfer and short term car parking. Aside from the ease and convenience of passengers, the airport has a pride of being a maintenance base for many of the worldâ€™s renowned airlines including EasyJet, Thomson Airways, Monarch Airlines and more. The headquarters of some of the worldâ€™s significant airlines are also located inside the London Luton airport building. EasyJet is the largest and Wizz Air is the second largest airline operating at the Luton airport. Aside from EasyJet and Wizz Air, the airport is a home to 11 more airlines operating globally. Getting to the airport from London Central is easy and convenient as it is located a few miles from the M1 Motorway.

The airport offers all kinds of car parking facilities according to your requirements. Short term, medium term and long term car parks are located in the west and east of terminal building. Transportation is available 24/7 at the Luton airport. At the international arrivals lounge, you can find many counters of private hire car from Luton airport to all locations across the country. For those looking for public transportation, the airport offers all kinds of cabs, buses and coaches that connect airport directly with London Central. Some of the major transportation firms operate at the Luton that includes National Express, Green Line Coaches, EasyBus and more. The airport management has already gotten the plan to replace shuttle buses with segregated tracked transit approved but due to some strong opposition it has been delayed till today.

If you are located in any part of UK and are looking for a car to Luton airport, then CrossCab is the best choice for you. Being one of the leading online cab booking companies of UK, CrossCab has been providing specialized local as well as airport transfer services across United Kingdom since many years. The company has a virtual fleet of more than thousands of vehicles that travel to and from all major airports of the country to major as well as minor locations around the country.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/luton-airport-facilities.htm - Article Side

Jocasta Marvin - About Author:

The terminal building has an access to a road that connects it to a bus station, drop off area, taxi rank, a Luton airport transfer and short term car parking. If you are located in any part of UK and are looking for a a car to Luton airport, then CrossCab is the best choice for you.

Article Keywords:
Transport from Luton airport, Luton airport transfer, car from Luton airport, car to Luton airport

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!