Renting a car in Muscat is by far the easiest way to explore Oman. If it is your first trip to this amazing country, you will be glad you opted for such a luxurious mode of transport, rather than keeping up with the bus schedules and hassles involving time and inconvenience.

You will notice that a lot of travel agencies and car rental services are available right at the airport, when you land. You can directly book your car as soon as you land and chances are that it will be delivered to your hotel in a matter of hours. If you are finicky about traveling in cabs or the like, and love to get into the driverâ€™s seat as soon as you step foot in any country, you could simply book the car you want online. That way the time you spent in booking the vehicle in advance is well paid off, as the car will be waiting for you at the airport itself.

Most well-known rental service companies have their own websites that give you complete information on all aspects of car rentals. You have choices of cars in all sizes and makes. All you have to do is consider your itinerary and book accordingly. Booking a car via Internet is easy and convenient as you can do it whenever you wish from the comforts of your home.

Getting insurance with your car rental agreement is crucial. Depending on your planned travel, make sure that the policy covers everything like collision damage, personal protection, and driving outside the country in case you wish to travel outside Oman. Some people have policies that cover any vehicle that the insured person drives, so call your current insurance company and clear the matter out before buying more insurance on the lease automobile.

Some of the car rental companies offer cars with GPS navigational systems. Even though getting a car with GPS navigation may be a little more expensive than otherwise, it is well worth the money. In a foreign land, the last thing you want is to get lost. In case you are going to rent the car for a week or so, you could ask the rental company for some kind of discount.

Since renting a nice car in Muscat has become so effortless, you could enjoy your holiday or business trip a lot more driving yourself around on the beautiful roads, forts and mosques. Exploring Muscat is a must when you come to Oman, and with a car at your disposal, you can see the sights of this stunning city at your own pace.
