Riding out â€“ Army style by Johnny Dunlap

Article published on March 13th 2012 | Travel

Who could ever imagine that a product from the American army â€“ the hummer would actually end up being a luxury mode of transport? Fact is that it has become exactly this and is used by groups of people who have a special occasion to celebrate together. This could be a stag or hen party, a group of graduating kids, a wedding party or just a newly married couple looking for an exclusive experience. The hummer limo is quite the beast when you are face to face with it. It stands at about 38 ft and you can choose from a range of trimmings and dÃ©cor to do it up in.

A hummer limo is a perfect choice to bring out that romantic feeling a wedding. This is a one-time event when a bride wants to look her best and be treated to the best. Getting a limo like this to take her to the church along with her entourage could be the best treat ever. And the fact that you can decorate the car any way you want is an added benefit as you can personalize it any way you want.

If you are looking at a hummer limo rental, then there are a few things you need to keep in mind. The first is to browse online and look for the various agencies close to you and the models that they have. Once you have narrowed down on the model, look online to find other organizations that may have the same model. Make a comparison chart of your own to see what is being offered and at what price. Once you have this list, you will be able to make an intelligent choice. The next thing you need to do is check the credentials of the company and the time they have been in the industry. Driving a hummer limo will require special licenses in some states and you have to ensure that the company has it along with other necessary insurances.

Once you are sure of the model, it would be a good idea to head down to the outlet and take a look at the limo yourself. Find out the age of manufacture of the model. Some of the real old ones may look good on the outside but are pretty much a bucket of bolts when it comes down to it.

Once you have hired your limo, make sure to call a day or so in advance of your booking date to reconfirm its availability and the elements that you have ordered for.
