Article Side

Sneaking alcohol in a different way by Cameroon George

Article published on December 26th 2011 | Travel

Sneaking alcohol on a cruise- the first reaction to this kind of thought would be of being over adventurous. The fact is several individuals actually not only think of this kind of stuff but they even try it. Many people try it one way or the other, but their ultimate goal is to reach on board with their favorite drink.

Why would people think of sneaking alcohol? Well there can be several reasons responsible for that. One could be that a person is so much addicted to drinking and they know very well they canâ€™t get a drink to that limit in the cruise bar. And the second fact may be that an individual is crazy about a brand and prefer the same drink every where. So in order to avoid the non availability in a particular cruise he may find it better to sneak it. And the third possibility is shortage of budget. Often drinks or cruise alcohol are charged more as compared to land. If a person is unable to pay the extra price and canâ€™t resist the temptation of getting drunk, he is left with the option of none other than to sneak alcohol on cruise.

And not just the cruise the similar fact applies to several functions and parties as well, even those where drinks are not allowed. So if a person tries to sneak alcohol on any of these places, he is certainly making a daring attempt that can drag him in some big trouble. How would a person sneak alcohol on cruise. Well its quite simple, one can take the drinks and pack it in his clothes. Or the person can hide alcohol under the sleeves of his jacket or coat. And many people even go beyond expectations. They would buy water bottles, empty the content and pour their favorite drink in to it and seal them again. They will carry it away in their hand. Thus no one would actually know what is there in the bottle. Is that water or energy drink or some sort of booze or alcohol. Thus they tend of move our without getting detected.

This bottle sealing phenomena is amazing. This allows you take your favorite drink and move on undetected. The use of these water bottle sealing caps is simply amazing. You are to get a water bottle, open it up and empty it down. Now take your favorite drink and pour it into the water bottle. And the final step is to seal it down. There are specialized water bottle sealing caps available in the market. You have to remove the original cap and then put these caps on and turn. The water bottle gets sealed as it has been done in the factory.

Thus if any one is planning to sneak alcohol these water bottle sealing caps are a perfect way to do so. You can even shop for these caps online. For buying the water bottle sealing caps at discounted rates you can log on to: http://www.camocaps.net

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/sneaking-alcohol-in-a-different-way.htm - Article Side

Cameroon George - About Author:
Cameroon George is a SEO expert and content writer who has written many articles on a sneak alcohol and a cruise alcohol.

Article Keywords:
Sneak alcohol, cruise alcohol

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!