Some of the Distinct Indian Beaches by Smriti Oberoi

Article published on January 4th 2012 | Travel

India is not only a land of temples but beaches also. There are beaches in India and these are in the coastal states. These have the beauty with the difference and attract many tourists from different parts of the world. The beauty of these beaches is different and you have the splendid experience once you spend couple of days in the beaches of India. Here we will discuss some wonderful beaches in different parts of India.

Gopinath beach in Gujarat

This is a wonderful beach and is located in the district of Bhavnagar in Gujarat exactly on gulf of Khambat coast. It is a wonderful beach of pristine elegance and you can also see a fort here. It belongs to the Gohilvad king.

Kelwa beach in Mumbai

This is a wonderful sea shore stretch and there is a wonderful crowd of tourists during the weekends. From Mumbai, you have an access to the beach and the distance is 80 km. It is a good India beach.

Versova beach in Mumbai

Versova is a wonderful beach in Mumbai; earlier it was part of Portugese exactly in 1739AD. It is a beautiful beach with massive rocks. Be careful on the beach during the high tide as you do not have much availability of lifeguards at this place.

Juhu beach in Mumbai

It is a splendid beach in Mumbai and is also referred to as the pride of Mumbai. You can have wonderful evening time at this beach with chat, drinks, bhelpuri, pav bhaji etc. It is in Santacruz.

Arambol beach in Goa

This is a wonderful beach and attracts quite a lot of travelers during the peak season. You will have a distinct feel on the beach with a special experience. There is a Mount Carmel church in this area and it is really an experience one cannot forget.

Miramar beach in Goa

It is a wonderful beach in Panaji and is a good attraction of tourists.

Panambur beach in Karnataka

It is a wonderful beach located in the dakshin Kannada. You can reach this place after alighting from the Surathkal railway station.

Allapuzha beach of Kerala

This is a wonderful beach in Allepy Kerala and there is also a lighthouse on the beach. This is also a backwater hub also referred to as Venice of east.

Golden beach of Chennai

This is a wonderful beach located on the east coast road and is a good tourist attraction for everyone. It is elegant and pristine.

Bharuva beach

It is a wonderful beach in Andhra Pradesh. It is a spot and there many Shiv Lingas here.

Digha beach in west Bengal

It is a wonderful beach in west Bengal and is a good spot for thousands of tourists that come to this place round the year. It is one of the major weekend destinations for the people of Kolkata. The original place was referred as Beekul.

Come to the explore beaches in India and have the splendid experience of life. You will find the finest moments.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/some-of-the-distinct-indian-beaches.htm - Article Side

Smriti Oberoi - About Author:
Smriti Oberoi has a vast experience in writing about various tourism destinations. Here she is writing her views on â€˜Varsova Beachâ€™ with interesting information about â€˜Alappuzha Beachâ€™.

Article Keywords:
india beaches, beaches in india, best beaches in india, india beach, india beach resorts

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!