Located along the Costa Blanca nearly 85kms towards the northern side of Alicante is the attractive Denia. The harbor of Denia is very prominent as it connects to the other important cities like Ibiza and lot more. The place is known for its tourist attractions and so earns through tourism. The city is prosperous as the fishing activities happen in leaps and bounds.

One of the most important sightseeing spots is the Castle that had been constructed in the 12th century. The Castle is so located that you could get a wider view of the sea and the green pastures on the other side. Museums are numerous in Denia and visiting few of them is worth. Denia has rich cultural heritage and a great historical background and so when you visit museums you will get a glimpse of the city and its history as a whole. If you need to know any further information about the history of the city then you could also visit Museo Etnologica.

Reaching Denia is quite easy with the comfortable drive on the N 332. It gives you a comfortable and enjoyable drive along the Costa balance. Coast line on one side makes the drive really memorable. This route is the shortest to reach Denia and it has plenty of natural scenic beauty to offer to the tourist. You can relish the enriched natural scenes on your drive through this route. Another route is taking the railway route of the medium gauge. As Denia lies between Gandia and Javea it the most sought after places during summer. As the city lies on the borders of the Montgo mountains it makes a natural facility for various kinds of water sports.

If you are planning to spend some days in Denia then one thing that could be done is to take a boat on rent. Take a trip to Javea , Benidorm and lot others. Though there are number of car rentals available but a boat ride will only give you required pleasure. Many buses ply between the tourists attractions and if you are a budget travelers then these would be a better option. However the facility of car cannot be over emphasized. Even hotels and restaurants are many according to your budget requirements. You have right from economy to luxury class hotels all available in Denia. And plan your trip in advance and make your bookings well in advance as during peak seasons there will be lot of crowd.
