The Fun of Bus Travel by Mark Pincus

Article published on December 14th 2011 | Travel

For many of us, completing the journey to your favorite vacation destination can take huge amount of time. Since a holiday is what you take after a long-long time, so you might as well plan to make it as enjoyable as possible. While it is definitely time saving to travel by airplane but the fun of bus travel is tough to match. On the top of it if it is Volvo or Volvo AC bus that you are travelling in, the time can become as memorable as you wish.

Driving to the vacation destination lets you take control of the route and the pace at which you travel. While for most of us bus travel implies taking a bus and getting down at the destination, a little spice in this way can give some adventurous angle to travel as well. How about planning the bus travel route ahead of time using maps and old atlases, or making use of the satellite navigation system to find the places to get down or simply wander on and off the main roads at will and explore different parts of the country? All you need for such bus travel is a pack of picnic hamper with a lot of food and drinks, a good ipad to plug your favorite tunes and your traveling clothes â€“ and you are ready to make your bus travel fantastic and memorable experience.

Though going by train is another green option, nothing can match the comfort of Volvo bus travel. Nowadays, technology has even made booking online possible so that you donâ€™t have to spend hours sweating yourself in the long queues of bus tickets. Volvo bus travel also gives you independence of enjoying the road rather than driving yourself, to which you might not get exposed to if you were travelling by car.

Also, many new buses in India now offer a comfortable sleeper carriage to travel overnight which makes it possible to arrive at your destination after a refreshing nightâ€™s sleep. You can also combine bus travel with other modes of transportation to add the â€˜fun angleâ€™ to your vacations. For example, i you are going on cruise holidays, the bus journey can give you the flexibility to reach till the place where the cruise starts from.

For the ultimate in economy, hop on a Volvo coach. All Volvo buses are temperature-controlled and the seats are very comfortable, that will make your holiday travel fun.
