Madrid is one city that has plenty of tourist attractions varying from monuments to natural grounds as well as manmade features. The museums found in this city make to the list of the major attractions within the city and are of great importance to the history and culture of the region and Spain as a whole.

Prado Museum: this is a museum that is of great importance in the whole world. The reason behind this popularity and importance can be attributed to the fact that it has masterpieces of famous Spanish artists. It is definitely a museum that you should never miss out on while taking a vacation in Madrid.

Thyssen Bornemisza Museum: this museum holds amazing collections that range from contemporary works to primitive Flemish. You will find huge collections of carvings, sculptures, paintings and tapestries among other very important items on display. It is one of the museums that have great importance to the Spanish culture.

Nacional Centro Museum: the most outstanding aspect of this museum is that it holds permanent Spanish contemporary collection of art. It has a very wide variety of exhibitions that are temporary in nature and cover all modern dimensions in art among them photography, films, videos, sculpture and painting.

Palacio Real: this museum is housed in a royal palace. The palace itself is an attraction to large numbers of tourists not only because of the historic value that it has but also because of the architectural design that is simply beautiful and breathtaking. This is one place that you can only exhaust visiting with the help of a tour guide or someone who has enough insight on how important it is.

When planning to visit the museum found in Madrid, it is important to have your information right. This is because the different museums open on different days and at different hours hence you will only get to enjoy what they have to offer when you get there on time. This is a good tip to also ensure that you do not end up wasting your time and resources making your way to the museums only to find that they are not open.

You can make your tour most enjoyable by getting your hands on a tourist guide book from the tourist office or hire the services of a guide who will ensure that you set foot in all the attractions that are within Madrid thereby making the most out of the trip.
