Article published on April 20th 2012 | Travel

Barcelona, the second largest city of Spain, is a place packed with romance and excitement. This is the prime reason why stag and hen groups, by the hordes each year, make a beeline for Barcelona weekend. Hence, for a fun time with friends, book tickets on board a flight to Barcelona. This is the place where history and modernity come together to create a magical blend. There is hardly any dearth of old structures, buildings or monuments in Barcelona. In fact, the monuments serve to enhance the beauty of the place. Time has failed to cloud the appeal of Barcelona. It continues to retain every veneer of the rich cultural past.

Therefore, if you have a Barcelona weekend vacation on the cards, then be prepared for a scintillating time. However, all said and done there are but a few important things that deserve to be mentioned first. Start the Barcelona stag do with a salsa night. After all, how can you afford to be in Spain without tasting the Countryâ€™s most popular dance form? There could not have a better way to spend your Spanish vacation than matching a step or two with beautiful local girls. Add to that glasses of wine and what you have is the perfect ingredient to a stag holiday. Countless weekend packages offer to take you on the most action packed weekend.

Barcelona is dotted with exotic vineyards. Apart from bouts of natural scenery, they also promise to keep your vacation in Barcelona packed with wines. In addition, for added fun, do consider taking refreshing wine tasting lessons. Be sure to ask your operator to include these wine extravaganzas in your package. Again, no Barcelona weekend layover can ever come full circle on the quota of fun without a little yachting. After a particularly hectic day, treat yourself to spa treatment sessions. There is nothing â€œunmanlyâ€• about soaking in a bit of luxury during a Barcelona stag weekend. The sp session over, try to gather some energy for a great Barcelona night.
