Touring India for the first time by Lincoln Harris

Article published on March 16th 2012 | Travel

If you are planning on travelling to an exotic destination full of life and culture, India is the right and only choice. Tour packages for India are plenty and vary depending on the days and cities you visit. While travelling to India make sure you get a taste of the culture as well as the food. Each region and state varies in historical background, food, culture, architecture, people and landscape.

Opting for a package deal

A tour package to India takes care of the important aspects like your accommodation, major meals, tour guides and transport. Some tourists even enjoy an elephant or camel ride depending on which part of India you tour. You can experience cultural dances, jeep safaris and city tours. Kerala is famous for its temples and picturesque scenery whereas Jaipur and Rajasthan are famous for its monuments and old architecture. If you are interested in touring, you will be able to locate various agencies online who offer attractive tour packages for India. Tours in Delhi, Jaipur or even Cochin are great ways to experience India first hand. While opting for a package deal be sure of what it includes and which cities you get to see.

City Tours

Like most tour packages to India, online packages also include city tours. These are usually arranged by expert guides who can explain the historical significance of the city. This also allows you to visit markets and shops, cultural areas of importance, monuments and buildings dating back and a chance to enjoy the local scenery through a jeep ride, cruise or bus safaris. Tours in Delhi take their tourists to the various monuments and noteworthy structures in the city. Due to the nature of Delhi and its history, old remains of forts etc can be visited till today. Museums and art galleries of Delhi are famous due to the accessibility of vast cultural arts and artefacts. Delhi is also famous for contemporary art.

Booking online

Booking online is quick easy and safe. For all those who are uneasy about giving out credit card details, speak to the helpline to find out how they can assure you of a safe way to book your tour package for India. In case you are not sure about the booking procedure, look up the website for instructions. Tour packages for India are usually offered on certain dates in the year. The earlier you book the better the chance of getting a good price as well.
