Villas in Quinta do Lago are Ideal for a Family Holiday by Michael Reilly

Article published on March 1st 2012 | Travel

Choosing a destination for a family holiday can be hard especially if you have budgetary constraints. Many people in recent years have opted to holiday within the UK in either a caravan or a guest house and those that could afford to travel abroad have often opted for a family friendly resort. However if you want complete freedom to do as you wish on your family holiday you might want to look into self catering accommodation instead. Villas in Quinta do Lago are ideal for families who just want to enjoy a week or two of rest and relaxation and due to the diversity of them you are sure to find one that meets your budget.

Quinta do Lago

The name Quinta do Lago is Portuguese for â€œfarmhouse on the lakeâ€• and it is thought that the name comes from a farmhouse which sits towards the end of the resort overlooking the lagoon. This farmhouse is still standing today but instead of being available for rent it has been converted into a beautiful restaurant which is well worth a visit. The name of the resort however is quite fitting as there are a variety of different villas in Quinta do Lago that can satisfy your thirst for nature.

Attractions

The resort of Quinta do Lago actually spans 2000 acres and although it is most renowned for its many golf courses there are other entertainment options that are sure to meet with your familyâ€™s approval. Two miles of long sandy beaches are available for families who like to rejuvenate under the hot Portuguese sun and the waters edging the beach are stunning. Children will love snorkelling whilst older kids will enjoy taking part in the numerous water sports activities available like water skiing and scuba diving.

Food

Quinta do Lago is also home to a variety of restaurants serving not only Portuguese cuisine but a variety of other European dishes. For those who would rather eat at home, the villas in Quinta do Lago often come with a wide range of cooking facilities and barbeque equipment. Fresh produce is available in the region and families can try cooking Portuguese food for themselves, or just food that they know the family will enjoy.

Many of the villas in Quinta do Lago come complete with a private swimming pool and these villas are perfect for families. Mum and dad can rest by the side of the pool and sip cocktails whilst the kids enjoy playing in the water. In fact with so many villas in Quinta do Lago to choose from you will be spoilt for choice. And when you consider the price and restrictiveness of a hotel room you will wonder why you hadnâ€™t opted for a villa holiday sooner.
