Article Side

Visit Georgia Colleges

by William Hauselberg

Article published on January 4th 2012 | Travel

Georgia is a state filled with southern tradition, beauty and some of the finest colleges in the nation. Students who wish to pursue studies in research and want to set themselves apart from the rest will no doubt consider both Georgia State University and Georgia Tech. Both of these Atlanta, Georgia institutions are highly respected research colleges offering students quality education in a city filled with recreation and opportunity.

Historic charm and Modern Amenities

Campuses in Atlanta, Georgia feature a combination of historic charm along with modern, cutting edge research technologies. Prospective students can expect to be a part of a highly diverse student population and will find no shortage of activities both on and off campus. The faculty and staff at Georgia colleges are comprised of professionals with outstanding reputations in their respective fields.

As you plan your campus visits, you will want to be sure to get a feel for academic and campus life, as well as life around the city. Whether you enjoy history, music or sporting events, Atlanta is a city with something for everyone.

What to do When Visiting Georgia

Check out the worldâ€™s largest aquarium â€“ the Georgia Aquarium â€“ less than one mile from a hotel located in the heart of the city. To get a taste of what television is like behind the scenes, CNN global headquarters in Atlanta offers daily tours. Also offering daily tours is The World of Coca-Cola, where visitors can see how Americaâ€™s most favorite soft drink is made. And for a day of family fun before your child leaves the nest for college, head over to Six Flags Amusement Park.

Luxury Georgia State University and Georgia Tech hotels keep you within walking distance of the college as well as some of the areaâ€™s top attractions as well. Choosing the right hotel will allow you and your family to truly experience the city of Atlanta.

After a long day visiting colleges and enjoying recreation around the city, relax in a luxurious, boutique-style hotel with a staff that puts your needs first. Enjoy a special family dinner at an on-site restaurant, and rest up for another day of tours on a pillow-top mattress.

Whether you are visiting Georgia Tech or Georgia State University hotels in the area offer prime location and top-notch amenities. As you visit colleges in Georgia, you will want to get a feel of what the Peach State and the city of Atlanta have to offer. Choose a hotel with a central location in the heart of downtown Atlanta.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/visit-georgia-colleges.htm - Article Side

William Hauselberg - About Author:
The author has an immense knowledge on a Georgia Tech hotels. Know more about a Georgia State University hotels related info in his website.

Article Keywords:
Georgia Tech hotels, Georgia State University hotels

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!