Australian Visa gets the first priority when it is the matter of traveling to Australia, be it for tourism, studies, and business or simply for visiting friends or relatives. For acquiring Visas for Australia your passport should be valid for at least 6 months from the date of departure. There are certain rules and regulations for acquiring Australian Holiday Visa or Australian tourist Visa. For acquiring Australian Visa you can get any help from your nearest Australian Visa center or seek help of any local travel agent.

The most common Australian Visa is Electronic Travel Authority or ETA. For this you do not need to find out the Local Australian Visa Office and attend personally. The new Electronic Visas or Electronic Travel Authorities (ETAs) can be obtained if you can meet the eligibility criteria. If you have a current passport, simply access to the web and getting a Visa becomes very easy, simple, safe and convenient. ETA is valid for 12 months from the date of issue and with this you can make multiple visits to Australia with a maximum period of three months for each visit. For ETA, passport holders of countries and regions specified by Government of Australia are only eligible.

The rules and regulations for Electronic Visas or Electronic Travel Authorities are:

The person should possess a valid passport from an ETA approved country

Should have a sound health

Must not have a criminal record

Must apply for a visa outside Australia

If you belong to any of the ETA approved countries, you can apply online. For this you need to be on the official government web site and click on the "Apply for ETA" button. Then you need to go through the information as stated and accept it. The application fee for ETA can be paid through credit card also. Next, you have to provide all personal information and complete all necessary forms and then wait for the approval. According to Australian Visa Services the online application is approved or denied with a few seconds. If there is a delay you can check the status of your ETA application every 12 hours. Australian Visa Applications are made by filling up the form and paying the necessary fees and can be acquired provided the application is made maintaining the rules and regulations of Australian Visa. It is important to keep the print outs of documents in case of E-Visas.

For Australian visa application you can take help of the Australian Visa Services who help to prepare Visa. The people who wish to work in Australia mainly apply for a working holiday visa. The people coming from Ireland can get the Australian Visas from Ireland to work in this country and earn. To the company sponsored non-resident Australians temporary residence Visas are granted. Those who visit this country for entertainment performances or sports competitions, the same Visa is provided. Depending on the purpose of visit you can apply for the right kind of Visa.
