Australia has one of the highest standards of living in the world and it is an English-speaking country with a population of about 21 million. Australians are informal which can take some adjustment, especially if you are more accustomed to a culture where ritual is important and where levels of status and authority are clearly distinguished and carefully respected. These are not obvious characteristics of Australian culture and you will be expected to be able to accept a wide range of people on an equal basis in informal situations.

The cost of living in Australia depends on which city you are staying, but the more you are in the rural area the more life is cheap. Australia is a safe and secure place, but it can take time to adjust to living in Australia and being surrounded with unfamiliar custom, but Australian are friendly and makes you fell at home.
