Beijing International Beer Festival by Lek Boonlert

Article published on November 28th 2011 | Travel Tips

One of the main reasons so many tourists book cheap Beijing hotels during the months of July and August is the International Beer Festival, held every year through the hottest months. As the capital of the People's Republic of China, finding a cheap Beijing hotel is usually fairly easy, but during the International Beer Festival you will want to book your tickets at least eight months in advance, otherwise you might not find a room at any of the cheap Beijing hotels. The city is known for its variety of historical monuments as well as its rich and exciting culture, but there are also dozens of festivals and events which are held every year and bring in tens of thousands of tourists to every cheap Beijing hotel in the city. The International Beer Festival is one of the highlights for foreign travellers as breweries from around the world come to Beijing to participate and showcase their own collection of quality beers.

The International Beer Festival in Beijing is more than just a beer drinking festival. It is a way for travellers from around the world to come together and stay in cheap Beijing hotels, while experiencing the friendship and exchange of cultures that occurs between the people of China, and people from all over the world who have come here to explore the beauty of the city. Of course, it doesn't hurt that the hottest months of the year, can be made more bearable with a variety of cold beers.
