Delhi is close to many hill stations and weekend getaways. You can easily get out on any Friday and be back on Sunday after two days of fun and frolic. There are many places like Aoli, Manali, Shimla, Mussorie, Dum Duml ake, Dalhousie, Lansdowne where you can spend your weekend and be back for work on Monday. If you have decided to travel to Shimla then it is high time that you work upon your ways and make the most of your travel. This article will help you if you have decided to travel from Delhi to Shimla so read on.

Delhi to Shimla is about three hundred and fifty kilometers and it takes around seven hours to reach the hill station. The place is full of serenity and you will definitely enjoy your stay there, be it with your partner or your friends. There are not many ways of moving from Delhi to Shimla and taxi or buses are the best ones. Taxis are notorious for not leaving on the right time and drivers drive rash therefore many travellers do not prefer them. This leaves us with the only option which is Delhi Shimla Volvo.

Volvo has definitely changed the way people used to travel which is why it is fast becoming the preferable mode of travelling for many. Delhi Shimla Volvo Buses are available throughout the week and you can book them and board them whenever you want. The buses are air conditioned and you will have no issues with the cleanliness as well. These factors are missing in the old conventional buses and that is why their popularity is on a downfall. Delhi Shimla Volvo is the best way to reach the hill stations are it is reliable and you do not have to spend a lot of money as well.

Delhi Shimla Volvo Booking is also easy as now you can book or cancel your tickets online as well. There are many vendors who have their website which can help you with Delhi Shimla Volvo Booking, Delhi Jaipur Volvo Booking or Delhi Manali Volvo Booking. The online portals are very interactive and you can also get information on the distance that you will travel and the time that it will take to reach your destination. Along with this, you also get to know the bus fare and the places that you should visit once you reach there.
