Hyderabad Airport Restaurants and Eating by Lek Boonlert

Article published on November 29th 2011 | Travel Tips

Hyderabad Airport

Rajiv Gandhi International Airport, also known as Hyderabad Airport, is one of Indiaâ€™s major airports. It is located approximately 15 miles from the city of Hyderabad in the south-eastern region of India. Hyderabad Airport opened in 2008. It is among the top ten busiest airports in the world. Hyderabad Airport serves as one of the central hubs for Jet Airways and Kingfisher Airlines.

Fast Food and Ready to Eat

Hyderabad Airport is served by several fast food restaurants. You can stop here on the way to your flight or departure from the airport. The airport has a McDonaldâ€™s, Subway, and central food court. Coffee Hut serves hot drinks and snacks for eat-in or take-out.

Restaurants

Hyderabad Airport also has leisurely restaurants at which you can sit down to a meal, with wait staff. These include Pizza Hut and Indian Paradise. Menus tend to focus on western European cuisine, with some local specialties and delicacies.

Premium Lounges

Numerous premium lounges allow you to escape the hustle and bustle characteristics of modern air travel. These include Jet Airways Lounge and Plaza Premium Lounge. Both lounges have special bar and restaurant style menus.

Hyderabad Airport Hotels

You may choose from a number of Hyderabad Airport Hotels. Several large hotels with facilities to suit all travellersâ€™ needs are located within a short walking distance from the airport. Local transport, including airport taxis and buses, can take you further away, should you find the closest airport hotels are fully booked or outside your budget.
