Article published on January 14th 2012 | Travel Tips

Permanent residence Australia allows you to remain in Australia for an indefinite period of time. At first you are granted a 5 years visa and until it expires you are free to enter and leave the country as much as you want. One of the benefits of residence is that even after the initial visa expires, you are permitted to stay in the country indefinitely without violating the rules and regulations of Australia.

There are two visa programs that provide permanent residence Australia which are: The humanitarian program is for refugees and the migration program is for skilled migrants or people that possess the attributes or professional skills that the Australian government needs. If you hold a permanent residency visa in Australia, you are also entitled to become a citizen when the waiting period is over as stated by the Australian nationality law. You can study and work, get social security and medical benefits and you can apply for citizenship.

As a permanent resident, you can enjoy the many privileges and rights of an Australian citizen. Among these include access to subsidized or free health, education and legal services. However, you may not be able to vote during federal elections; depending on the state you are in. some state may also allow to vote in local government and state elections if you come from a country that is a member of the common wealth of nations. You also get better chances of employment and children who are born in Australia automatically become Australian citizens.

Study in Australia promotes innovative, creative and independent thinking for higher education. A student learns the essential skills of team work and learn new language from different students. Higher education in Australia teaches you to communicate effectively with others and to develop the practical skills and intellectual abilities you need to be successful. Australia has renowned universities and institutions that offer comprehensive education program in numerous subjects thus drawing several aspirants to pursue education.

Students who study in Australia are attracted by the countryâ€™s natural and peaceful environment, the cosmopolitan cities, multicultural communities, and work, study structure and relatively low cost of life. The students enjoy the challenge and freedom of studying at educational institution which have a reputation of excellence. Australian universities have educated many international students which for many the most powerful lure is the reputation of quality and diversity of education. Australian government organization assist Australian institutions to recognize quality qualification from overseas student who want to pursue for a higher degree in Australia.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-tips-articles/permanent-residence-and-study-in-australia.htm - Article Side

Francis - About Author:
Francis is a professional SEM/SEO,link builder and article writer who writes on different niches.a
http://globalvisas.net.au/countries/

Article Keywords:

permanent residence Australia, study in Australia, permanent residence

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!