Being on holiday to Singapore, you would have an array of attractions to cherish with. From towering skyscrapers to outstanding ethnic structures, and serene theme parks to fun-filled sandy beaches, a Singapore trip lets the tourists explore numerous fascinations which are unmatched to somewhere else in the world. Modern-word attractions in Singapore such as Underwater World, the Night Safari and Singapore Flyers never fail to impress visitorsâ€™ hearts. Besides this, friendly locals, well-enhanced infrastructure and high quality of lifestyle are some added attractions which make Singapore tour a memorable sojourn. Itâ€™s therefore demand for tour packages Singapore has been soaring worldwide. Nevertheless, itâ€™s always a smart move to travel after gaining complete information about the destination. Here are some general but useful information you must know before approaching Singapore.

Language: Singapore is multi-cultural community, so you can find people speaking in different languages. Official languages in Singapore are Malay, Mandarin, Tamil and English where the later on is the language of business and administration. In most of restaurants, hotels and other tour facilities, English is spoken and understood. Malay is the National language in the country.

Weather: Singapore boasts a tropical climate, and remains hot & humid all through a year. Itâ€™s affected by two disparate monsoons: the northeast monsoon and southwest monsoon, and experience a reasonable amount of rainfall. From December to March, during the northeast monsoon season, Singapore features pleasant conditions, though weather can be erratic and unpredictable. The southwest monsoon runs from June to September, and brings early-morning rain storm. While planning for Singapore tour, weather is the secondary consideration following the festive season. The best time to visit this Southeast Asian nation is the winter season: from October to March.

Money and Banking: The major currency in Singapore is the Singapore dollars and the cents. For those with money of their native nation, there are many options to get it exchanged. Bank working hours are from 9:30 to 3:00 pm on weekday and 9:30 to 11:30 on Saturday. Most of the branded hotels, restaurants and shopping complexes accept all major credit cards.

Singapore is well connected to all major cities of the world being serviced by over 60 international airlines. One can use excellent bus network in Singapore to get around the island. Other than that, private taxi services are also available to offer private and comfy riding experience to the visitors and the locals alike.
