There may be attenuation of the angelic memories of your summer vacation, but it doesnâ€™t mean travel season has been ended. Actually, winter is also a great time to travel, as many destinations offer the best value to their visitors in this season as well. However, what you need to do is to spend some hours on searching such destinations and choose the suitable one among them. In India, options for winter vacations are enormous; some of them are truly magnetic. These destinations either have warm climate, feature heavy snowfall and adventurous activities, or offer historical or cultural gems to entice the travelers in winter. Here are some famous winter destinations in India described below:

Kufri: Located in the northern region of â€˜Devbhumiâ€™ â€“ Himachal Pradesh, Kufri is a scenic heaven t offers spectacular views, peace & tranquility and unique cultural attractions to its visitors. This place is landlocked with majestic mountains which get covered with a heavy white layer of snow in winters. However, deep green valleys, cultivated terraces, serene lakes and shushing rivers in the area also cast a magical spell to leave the vacationers becharmed. Other than the pleasant climate and scenic beauty, Kufri is renowned for its mesmeric winter sports. Travelers come here to enjoy trekking, skiing and tobogganing along the snow-covered mountain slopes.

McLeod Ganj: Nestled nicely in the upper Dharmashala, McLeod Ganj is an imposing tourist spot in Indian state of Himachal Pradesh. Home to the holy leader Dalai Lama and a number of ancient temples, monasteries and structures, this hill station is thronged by thousands of tourists who wish to learn Buddhist cultures and rituals along with superb natural beauty to soak up. Tsuglagkhang Shrine, Namgyal Monastery and the Church of St. John in the Wilderness are the major tourism attractions in McLeod Ganj.

Ooty: A land of picturesque picnic spots, colorful mountains, rich traditions and interesting flora & fauna, Ooty is one of the most sought after winter holiday destinations in India. Pleasant climatic conditions and verdant natural beauty make Ooty a perfect retreat for honeymooners. moreover, long stretches of tea plantations, colorful parks & gardens, deep green valleys and serene lakes in Ooty draw a large number of tourists from India as well as abroad. The mountains journey that wends its ways through many beautiful valleys, fearful tunnels, verdant vegetations and heart-throbbing curves is an additional attraction of Ooty travel.

Goa: Even the name itself is enough to fill the senses with sweet imaginations. Arousing beaches offering heaps of joy, an exciting range of adventures, amusing nightlife and splendid arts & cultures, Goa is a complete holiday destination that never fails to impress it visitors. A small state on countryâ€™s western coastline, Goa is renowned for its beautiful sandy beaches, verdant greenery and idyllic lifestyle. However, mesmeric arts & cultures, which are heavily influenced by the Portuguese, are also worth exploring in Goa. Winter holiday at Goa beaches is truly a rewarding experience for vacationers.

Kovalam: This beautiful town in Kerala is known as the â€˜Paradise of South Indiaâ€™, and is a perfect destination for lovers of nature and adventure. Scenic beaches soothe every soul, thrilling water sports test all abilities and relaxing resorts impress every heart in Kovalam. In fact, a tour to Kovalam lets the travelers explore three beautiful beaches, a variety of water sports and detectable cuisines and a mesmerizing boat cruise.
