Trekking Tour for Adventure Freaks by Von Miller

Article published on May 5th 2012 | Travel Tips

There are innumerous luxury packages available for tourists every vacation. But one package that is taken by only adventure freaks is trekking tour. Trekking is one of the ultimate vacation plans for those who are fond of adventure sports and nothing can beat Nepal when it comes to Trekking.

People from all over the world visit Nepal as there are eight highest peaks of the world situated in Nepal out of fourteen. There is no dearth of trekking trails in Nepal and some of the most prominent trails include Kanchenjunga camp, Everest trekking tour, Manaslu, Annapurna camp etc. trekking till Himalayas is another added attraction amongst the trekking enthusiast. It is a different charm altogether to trek till the snow covered peaks of Himalayas. All kinds of trekking trails re available in theses luxury packages keeping in mind the requirement of all age groups like the kids, aged and those who do not have high physical strength. The best trekking trail is the middle grade route which can be enjoyed by all kinds of adventure lovers and does not sport any kind of risks too.

There are many higher grade routes in Nepal but not everybody is fit for these trekking tours. This needs experience and experts as the higher altitudes are difficult to manage for first timers. As the height increases, the condition of weather deteriorates. Moreover, there are other factors also like sharp routes, lack of oxygen etc. people whose endurance level is low should never opt for such trekking routes as the fun of the tour would be lost and it would no longer be one of the luxury packages then. It is best to be prepared for trekking before reaching Nepal. Good grip shoes, safety equipment, medicines, easy clothing, compass, sleeping bags and rain coats should be carried along to ensure there is no problem later on. Though, if you are on one of the luxury packages, you will get all the equipment, tents and sleeping bags, but it is best to carry your stuff to avoid any kind of difficulty later on.

Once such things re kept in mind, there would be no looking back for the adventure lovers. Trekking tours in the lap of nature is the best thing to go for. However, it is always recommended to go for such tours in groups to enjoy the flora and fauna of Nepal and the natural beauty without the threat of getting lost.
