Article published on May 9th 2012 | Vacations

It is true that Australian Spouse Visa, although one of the most popular among all, is also the toughest to obtain. This visa is meant for the couples who are married legally and one of them must be the citizen of Australia or a permanent resident of Australia. While applying for this kind of Australian Visa, the applicant needs to submit relevant documentation as evidence of the relationship.

A few things to know about Australian Spouse Visa:

Australian Spouse Visa is valid for a period of two years initially during which one can live and work in this country. After this period if your circumstances and relationship still are the same, your application can be re-assessed and your Australian Visa can be made permanent. The candidate can apply for temporary and permanent, both the visa at the same time.

In certain circumstances, like spousal relationships of very long time or those having children, this kind of visas Australia your visa need not go through the waiting period of two years, they can be made permanent from the day one. This is solely the discretion of Australian immigration.

Australian Spouse Visa application is of two parts, the sponsorship and the visa application, while the permanent resident of Australia or an Australian citizen acts as the sponsor.

While applying for the Australian Visa for Spouse you need to provide a variety of evidences which include, your marriage certificate, relationship statements from each of you, witness statements from family and friends as a proof of your relationship, joint financial or legal commitments, evidence of employment the sponsor, and knowledge of personal circumstances of each other.

Marriage certificate is considered as the most important document of proof for Australian Visa for Spouse. But you need to be ready with the complete set of documents because they are asked for in most of the cases. For avoiding rejection it is always safe to look into the details carefully as every single document is treated as valuable evidence and they help to make your case stronger. Above all, the witness in person aids to the way how application will be looked into.

Before applying for this kind of visas Australia it is advisable to consult the right people. You can gain some knowledge from friends and relatives but keep one thing in mind that their case may not be the same. Therefore, get right help for going through the whole process of application. The professional visa service providers have the requisite knowledge and experience for handling such cases in the perfect manner so that obtaining visa becomes easy for you.

A reliable name in this field, Visas for Australia offers a professional service with its dedicated teams of experts to ensure that the whole process of visa application gets easy and hassle-free for you. With an expert knowledge in processing all kinds of Visas Australia including Australian Spouse Visa, the specialists at Visas for Australia are there to help in the best possible way so that you can get your visa within a short period of time, without facing any obstacles. Please visit our site for more information: http://www.visasforaustralia.co.uk/

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/vacations-articles/guidelines-for-getting-australian-spouse-visa.htm - Article Side

Shaz Memon - About Author:
Art Vandelay is an expert in Australian visa service. He provides informative article to his readers about a Australian Spouse Visa.

Article Keywords:
Australian Visa, Visas Australia, Australian Tourist Visa, Australian Working Holiday Visa, Australian Migration, Visas for Australia, Australian Spouse Visa

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!