How to Travel in Comfort to Machu Picchu by Chuck Todd

Article published on February 23rd 2012 | Vacations

If youâ€™re thinking about traveling to Peru but are worried about the difficulty and possibility of discomfort while traveling throughout a South America country, fear no more. There are plenty of 5-star hotels in Peru that are happy to help you book a trip to this diverse country. Or, if you are interested in visiting more than one main destination, there are also many South America tour companies that offer high end tours. A very popular choice are Machu Picchu luxury tours, which typically include stays and excursions at not only Machu Picchu, but typically the Sacred Valley, Cuzco, and Lima as well.

The first step of making your luxury South America trip a reality is to decide where you want to go. Galapagos Cruises are a popular choice, but are by far the most expensive. Luxury lodges in Patagonia also provide an amazing experience, but can be time consuming to get to and are also pricy. By far the most affordable luxury option to a major South America travel destination is to Machu Picchu.

Once you decide where you want to visit and know how long you have to travel, do some research online for South America tour providers. You will typically get the best combination of quality and expertise if you book with an operator that has offices both within Peru and abroad. There are many companies to choose from so you may want to contact several to see who replies to you with the best offer in terms of price, tone, and timeliness. Overall, go with the company you feel comfortable with, and be sure to check online and on their website for past customer reviews.

When booking a luxury Machu Picchu trip, there are several things you should expect for your money. The first is quality informed and prompt response from your travel company. This is your trip and the point of paying someone else to take care of the planning and responsibility is to give you the freedom to enjoy a trip stress free, before during and after.

Consider taking the luxury train from Cuzco to Machu Picchu, which is expensive but very luxurious. Ask for several 5-star hotels in Cuzco, the Sacred Valley, and near Machu Picchu to choose from. Many include spas, pools, gourmet dining, and all the things you would find at any top end hotel. Finally, be sure all your tours are private and given by an expert in the area who speaking your language fluently. You can also have dinner reservations made for you ahead of time.
