How to brighten up your home with canvas prints by Andrew Bourke

Article published on June 21st 2012 | Visual Arts

Printing your photos on canvas and having them hung in your home can really give your home a positive lift and can make you and others that visit you feel very special. Most canvas prints that you can purchase in this day and age are printed with precision and colours and sharpness that can be achieved from a normal photograph or a digital image that you have took from your personal camera can really amazing and you can treasure your photos that you have had transformed onto canvas for years to comes as the inks that are used today for large format printing is of a long lasting and very vibrant effect.

Having your photos printed to canvas isnâ€™t just a simple photo on canvas as it means more than that and you will see this ones you have had your own image printed, having a canvas made from your very own image is something of an art form and not only that but it give the room that its hung in some style and flamboyantâ€™s to. The great thing about getting some canvas prints made is you donâ€™ just have to have your photos printed on canvas as you can have other styles and different artwork printed to your canvas to, you have things like landscape pictures of pretty much any sort of skyline from a major city or a landscape with a sun setting in the sky which is a very popular choice but you also have other styles you can choose from like abstract image on canvas or if you wanted to go for something different then you can have any image of your choice printed over a variety of different canvas prints so the image is split over a few different sizes and canvas and that alone give of a very cool effect and if you get the picture that you are having printed on the canvases right then it can look really amazing.

When you get a canvas print from any kind of online shop or indeed a high street shop then one little tip I can give you to make sure you get the best possible frame for your canvas prints would be to make sure that the printer is using stretcher bars frames, the reason I say this is because this type of frame was basically made to suit the canvas material as the frame on one side will have a bevelled edge to allow the canvas to breath due to weathering so that your canvas stays more taught and tight throughout the years to comes, otherwise if you just have a normal wooden frame then youâ€™re more likely to have loose feel to it and more than so the stretcher bar frames not only do the correct job but they also look more professional to and will be cut to precession so next time youâ€™re looking to get a canvas print made or indeed itâ€™s your first time then itâ€™s my advise that y should ask for the stretcher bars frame to receive a more superior product.
