With the ever growing opportunities in business today, individuals find is easier to follow their passions and convert their hobbies into long-term lucrative careers. This holds true especially for those who are looking to get into a profession that is flexible as well as viable from a commercial perspective. Believe it or not a large number of people who are into activities such as traditional arts and craft, creative writing, and other such activities have been able to create a full blown career out of it. Here are some of the top creative freelance careers that you can opt for â€“

1. Freelance Content Developer

Writing as a career option has been around for decades. The flexible nature of this job makes it extremely viable for skilled individuals to lend their writing services on a freelance basis. There are a number of individuals who work on a freelance basis to write copy for brochures, magazines, and web based content. If you are a little more creative, you can also lend your services to online greeting card companies and other custom personalized service providers who need the expertise of a writer.

2. Freelance Website Designing â€“

If you have come to realize your unique skills in design and graphics, becoming a freelance Vancouver based web design expert is quite a commercially lucrative idea. You can lend your coding, designing and internet marketing expertise for projects of all sizes depending on your personal bandwidth and the time you wish to commit to this profession.

3. Event Coordinator â€“

A relatively new entry into the freelance arena; if you are proud of your networking, planning and organizing skills working as a freelance event coordinator can be a fun profession to get into. In addition to this, it is time to think beyond the mundane wedding planning and organization of corporate events. Consider planning custom events for bachelors, bachelorettes, sweet 16s, graduations and other such events.

4. Bridal Image Consultant

Much like any other fashion or image consultant, consider building a niche in the bridal area where you can accompany brides in their trousseau shopping, and consult them on what to wear, how to behave and how to take care of oneself during the period between their engagement and wedding ceremony. With more and more brides striving to get that perfect look, your taste in fashion and creativity can do wonders in creating princesses out of brides.

5. Jewellery Designer

Designing exquisite jewellery by creating the perfect blend between precious stones and other intricate designs is a fascinating way to liven up the creator inside of you. You can also go an extra mile by expanding your market beyond popular and commonly worn jewellery into something more exciting in the form of kitsch fashion or fashion for pets, or jewelled accessories for mobiles, wine glasses, cars and bags

In addition to this consider careers as colour consultants and join forces with an interior designer, a social media marketing expert, or become a real estate marketing consultant. If you are able to get a little bit creative, there is a world of opportunities available for you out there.
