The wedding day is certainly the most exciting day one may plan for. Decoration of the wedding venue at the wedding day is one of most vital aspect of the occasion. The dÃ©cor should be a mirror of the perfect match to the bride and groomâ€™s relation. The decorations can be traditional or personalized or a combination of both. Many couples choose for a combination of both, it solely depends on the needs, requirements and budgets of the couple.

The weddings dÃ©cor can be quite expensive. The centerpieces are usually first thing that are noticed at the wedding receptions. Glitter Trees can be the best choice for a centerpiece. Here are some ideas how you can make your wedding venue both unique and economic.

One of the traditional wedding decorations includes wedding trees. They symbolize traditions in weddings and many other occasions. A natural tree like a framework can be easily personalized and will also look unique. For instance Manzanita trees are perfect for wedding occasions. They can be obtained in different shapes and sizes, and its natural branches are basically structured like small trees. A large Manzanita tree can be decorated as per the theme of the wedding and can be the center of the decorations while such small trees can be used as centerpieces for decorating individual tables.

A number of small Manzanita branches can be purchased easily with some dollars. These branches can then be decorated accordingly to be the smaller version of the large Manzanita tree or can be decorated separately. Decorations can be done effectively by covering the branches with paints and or by glittering it and can also be referred to as Glitter Trees. The glittering used to cover the branches can be of white, gold or silver color. For elegancy the tree can be decorated with a hanging crystal.

A gingerbread house can also be used as a centerpiece to add the charm to the decorations. Icing of the primary colors of wedding and snow can be added to the roofs to outline the doors and windows. In a Christmas theme wedding decorations, large boxes can be wrapped with colorful paper such as red, green, blue. A number of small boxes wrapped in white paper can be placed around the large one. For the wedding favors, pack the gifts in the boxes and ask the guest to take one when they leave.

Another centerpiece for individual table decoration could be small pine trees decorated with mini ornaments. The ornaments can vary on different trees and small ball ornaments of the wedding colors can also be used. The pine trees can be purchased easily from any of the craft shops and would a great choice of seating markers.

For a winter wedding receptions, candles as centerpieces would add a warm glow to the whole ambiance of the wedding. They can be decorated as a large candle of number of candles centered on a snow covered mirror. To elaborate the decorations, silver candelabras with white candles and ribbons wrapped around it can be good choice as well. Apart from all these ideas some online research can also be helpful to make your wedding beautiful, memorable and inspiring to your guests.
