It is very foolish to overlook or avoid one of the most important factors of wedding decorations-lighting. The reason behind this is that the proper decoration of the venue is certainly very important that will always help to brighten the appearance of the venue as well as the mood of the guests who will be coming together to bless the couple. The use of the proper wedding lighting can be used to create a highly significant effect on how the venue of the wedding appears and feels. It is possible to get the very best decorations and lighting at the very lowest expenses. The use of the proper kinds of lighting has the ability to complete transform the appearance of any ordinary room as well as creates the atmosphere of enjoyment and celebration. Furthermore, it also sets the tone for the evening and enhances the mood of all the guests present. There are a few dos and donâ€™ts when you are planning the lighting for your wedding so as to make the appearance of the venue look the most attractive and beautiful. It is very important that you avoid the use of fluorescent lights in the decoration of your wedding as much as possible because, after all, you are decorating a wedding venue and not the building of your office! When you have discarded the use of fluorescent colored lights for your wedding event lighting, you can make use of various other lighting designs by making use of various lighting tools and devices that includes the use of gobos and many others.

Some of the lighting features that you can make use of are as follows:

â€¢ Gobos- When selecting the choice of colors and lighting for your wedding venue, you can always choose to use a gobo and have the names of your spouse and you in lights. You can also make use of certain other beautiful designs to project an image on the dance floor that will be able to create the very best effect at the lowest expenses. You can have the gobos that relate to the theme that your wedding is based on. You can have these images presented on the dance floor or the walls or even the ceiling. The choice would be yours.

â€¢ Pin Spotting- This is a very effective method of making the use of special wedding lighting to create an attractive and beautiful effect. This form of lighting can be used when the decoration involves the use of floral arrangements and beautiful centerpieces. Pin spotting makes use of certain lighting fixtures that can be used all over the room in order to create spotlights for the centerpieces. These kinds of wedding event lighting will be of great help to have a great effect on the centerpieces as well as the entire room. This can make for great photographic spots.

Apart from the above mentioned lighting fixtures, you can also use various other fixtures that can make the wedding venue appear brighter, attractive and more beautiful.
