Laser Liposuction with Cellulite Removal for a Beautiful Body by Sarah Kathey

Welcome the summer with a beautiful body! Combine laser liposuction with cellulite removal to remove excess fat and also get smoother, younger looking skin. Established plastic surgery centers now offer both these procedures together so that women can benefit from an all-round solution and easily attain an attractive-looking physique.

Treat Cellulite Following Liposuction Surgery

While laser liposuction can eliminate fat, it does not work to remove cellulite. You would still be left with lumpy, dimpled skin on your hips, thighs or buttocks. The answer lies in clubbing your liposuction treatment with cellulite treatment. A trained and experienced plastic surgeon can perform both these procedures using the latest laser-enabled technology.

Liposuction with Smartlipo Triplex

This multiplex triple wavelength laser lipolysis workstation from Cynosure is designed to solve all your body contouring issues. It comes with a powerful laser with 3 wavelengths: 1064nm, 1320nm and 1440nm. The right blend of these wavelengths can disrupt fat tissues and tighten tissue through coagulation.

The surgeon can use this advanced technology to remove small and large fat deposits from various areas – the abdomen, thighs, hips, buttocks, upper arms, flanks, and so on. This advanced technology features unique, intelligent delivery systems to achieve high definition body contouring with minimal complications.

Reduce Cellulite with Cellulaze Treatment

Once your liposuction treatment is complete, the surgeon can work on your cellulite using the latest laser technology. Another innovation from Cynosure, Cellulaze is the first and only minimally invasive cellulite treatment. This FDA-approved procedure is performed using a powerful pulsed Nd:YAG 1440 nm wavelength and SideLaze fiber. The laser fiber features a two-directional laser flow and is used to target cellulite at its source – beneath the skin. Just one treatment can improve the appearance of cellulite, increase skin thickness and elasticity, and produce results that last a year or longer.

Safe Laser Liposuction with Cellulite Removal

Both laser liposuction with Smartlipo Triplex and laser cellulite treatment with Cellulaze are safe and effective procedures. You don't have to worry about side-effects like bleeding or bruising. They are performed under local anesthesia and involve little downtime and no hospital stay. You can get back to normal activity within a few days. However, take care to choose your surgeon with care. Make sure that your physician is trained in utilizing both these novel technologies. Fix an initial consultation and discuss your options with your surgeon, including possible complications. It's also important that the surgical practice where your procedures are performed is AAAASF-accredited. This will ensure the best results.
