Article published on December 6th 2011 | Writing

The carp and the herring are good friends. They lived a quiet life in a small pond. The Pond is small and the food is not rich enough, but they had a great time.

One day, the carp came out to play and did not find the herring, so it asked the turtle: â€œDo you know where my companion has gone?â€• â€œI heard it had moved to another place.â€• The turtle said, â€œIt h moved to a large pond in another place, where the water is broad and food is fine. Oh, it must have a better life!â€• Hearing this, the carp felt sour in its heart and blocked in its chest. For several days, it had had poor sleep and appetite, without any spirit. â€œOh, it is really boring to be living! Living in this poor place alone, where nothing is available, will never make me see daylight.â€• It said so when meeting anyone. â€œI heard it had moved to another place.â€• The turtle said, â€œIt has moved to a large pond in another place, where the water is broad and food is fine. Oh, it must have a better life!â€• Hearing this, the carp felt sour in its heart and blocked in its chest. For several days, it had had poor sleep and appetite, without any spirit. â€œOh, it is really boring to be living! Living in this poor place alone, where nothing is available, will never make me see daylight.â€• It said so when meeting anyone.

A few days later, it met the tortoise again. â€œCan you tell me that why the herring lives better than me? It is not so competent as I.â€• It asked the tortoise. â€œThe herring?â€• the tortoise said, â€œI was about you that the news I heard a few days ago is false. The herring was actually fished away. Whether it is dead or alive is not known. We are all worried about it!â€• â€œReally?â€• the carp suddenly cheered up â€œThank you for giving me good news.â€•

When some people see others are better than themselves, they will be unhappy; when other people encounter a disaster, he will be elated. This is an unhealthy state of mind.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/writing-articles/the-mind-of-carp.htm - Article Side

Anita - About Author:
Tory likes playing online games, so he enters into a game company to work. He can find many interesting things and a wow gold there.

Article Keywords:
Carp, herring, mind, turtle, pond, live, better

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!