Aquarians are those born between 21st January and 19th February, and they are ruled by the planet Saturn. Aquarians have a cool and attractive personality; they are in to fashion and are usually the trend setters in their community. They tend to be intelligent, logical and level-headed people. But there are two extremes to Aquarius; there are those who are shy, patient and sensitive with a genteel personality and those with an exuberant, bubbly with a lively personality. The exuberant personality enjoys holding the fort; they bask on the amount of attention they get from people around them. On the other hand, the shy personality prefers to remain on the background rather than being in a spot light. Though there are two different categories in Aquarius, both are equally strong willed in their own way and have strong convictions. They prefer honesty and seek truth above all else, the even change their strong-willed opinions when proven with solid evidence.

Aquarians are friendly people, but they get uncomfortable when others discuss about feelings and emotions to them, they donâ€™t know how to deal or give advice on the subject. They prefer solitary at times, they like to cut off from the world and they tend to loners temporarily during those times. They can be quite unemotional and dethatched which makes them appear aloof to others. Aquarians can be quite unpredictable at times, laughing one minute and moody the next. They can get downright rude or maintain a threatening silence when they get angry. They have a know-it-all attitude which tends to put others off.

Aquarius children are always a mystery for their parents. They can be sensitive, adamant and impulsive at the same time. It is hard to decide if the child is just hyperactive or an intelligent genius. An Aquarius baby never gives in to force; he will oppose it with great vehemence. When he does something wrong, explain him why it is not right and give him time to absorb the reason. They demand logical reasoning for every action, so donâ€™t spin fairy tales to an Aquarius child; tell them the actual fact which they tend to understand better. Encourage them to do things and never force; one has to be very careful about what they say to an Aquarius baby. They may not be too much into sports and other outdoor activities.

In a profession, Aquarius work best in a group project. They are good in any technical profession. Some have the ability to become good entertainers and can excel as character artists and musicians. They can also be good in the creative field as writers and photographers. They often come up with new ideas and they know how things can be done to achieve a goal. They can be quite inventive thinkers and push work or business to attain a better position.

In a relationship, Aquarians require their independence and freedom. They donâ€™t like an over dose of emotional entanglements. The Aquarius sign has excellent compatibility with Gemini and Libra. Gemini and Aquarius see each other at the same level- both witty and intelligent. Both of them tend to be logical and not emotional which makes them great partners. Aquarius and Libra may have the same mental ability. The Aquarius likes to be friends with everyone and the Libras want someone who is not extremely dependant on them at an emotional level, they want pleasures with an easy life. When it clicks, Aquarians enjoy being in a good relationship and learn about love and the Libras can learn on how to be more definite in what they want from life.
